Are you developing a distance education course for next year? If so, here is a unique opportunity to participate as a team with FLC colleagues in a Massive Open Online Course (MOOC) that will provide us with facilitated assistance in developing and designing blended courses through (1) a consideration of key issues related to blended learning and (2) practical step-by-step guidance in producing materials for a blended course (e.g., developing design documents, creating content pages, and receiving peer review feedback from your FLC colleagues).

This course will be supplemented by face-to-face Canvas training.
